'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

The World's worst tragedy is to dent the fenders of one's brand new automobile.

As a result of an accident like this, two persons in Richmond are almost heartbroken.

A year ago they purchased a machine—shining in all its glory of green paint.

Sunday the driver had a slight argument with a truck.

When the argument was over, the car went to the garage to have two dented fenders straightened out.

Speaking of new cars, though, the funniest sight we ever have seen, or expect to see, is the spectacle of a proud owner of a new car driving it home to get it out of the rain and then walking back to work arriving in a pool of water as it were.

There really should be a law.

Workers should be given a holiday after a holiday in order that they might recover from the holiday.

It's all perfectly clear if you will stop for an hour and a half and re-read the above sentence.

Hearst's answer to the French government when he was ousted from France the other day is a masterpiece of sarcasm.

The whole affair was rather silly, to say the least.

The French consider that a good cook is an artist... and treat him as such.

And he or she should be treated so.

A good cook can cover a multitude of sins.

It certainly won't be long now before college football season starts.

And then the arguments will start.

The world series will soon be on hand... and more arguments and the "I told you so's" of those who were lucky enough to guess the winners of both leagues.

Jim Jefferies, the old time champion, was much enraged by the Baer-Campbell bout.

Old Jeff declared in a written statement to a Los Angeles newspaper that Baer was unsportsmanlike, to say the least.

But no matter how the fans, writers and ex-champs "squawk", boxing will continue to be a dirty game as long as the racketeers manage the fight business.

First Concerted Drive On Prohi Law Offenders

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3.—UP—The first concerted drive against prohibition law violators on the Pacific coast since the department of justice took charge of enforcement was opened today by William G. Walker, administrator for the eleventh district.

Walker sent a statement to all police chiefs, sheriffs and district attorneys in California, Nevada and Hawaii, announcing a drastic use of the padlock law. He intends to learn from them every case where more than one violation is established.

"We have found that local courts are not sufficiently severe," Walker said. "We can't get the local courts to fine bootleggers high enough."

"In tightening up generally we will invoke the padlock procedure wherever more than one violation is established, even though the prosecution has been by local police."

"This seems to be a wiser method than sending our agents out into every town in the district. We use the local authorities instead."

Walker admitted he could not compel cooperation from local authorities but said he expected every aid from them and the first response to his appeal, from Chief William J. Quinn of the local department, was favorable.

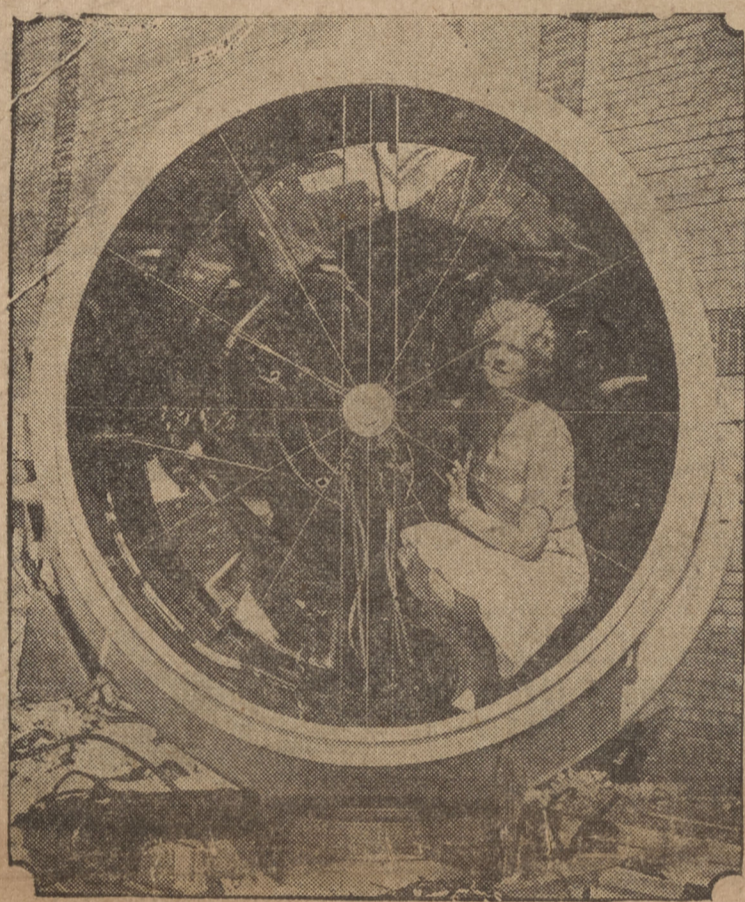

Quinn said he would furnish Walker with monthly reports as the administrator had requested.

OIL PLANT IN OPERATION

The MacMillan Oil corporation, newest industry to select Richmond as its home, is now in full operation, it was announced yesterday by C. W. Miller, the local manager, through the chamber of commerce.

The plant is a facility for the distribution of oil products and is situated on the outer harbor adjoining the Richmond plant. It was brought here by the chamber of commerce.

The plant includes two 20,000 barrel gasoline storage tanks, two 500 barrel gasoline tanks, a rack to load cars with gasoline and another rack for the expeditious loading of trucks for nearby distribution.

According to Miller, the local plant serves all of central and northern California and Nevada, the refined gasoline coming here in ships from the company's refinery at Long Beach. Many cars and trucks are now being loaded every day, although the plant is still not operating up to its full capacity, the manager declared.

The plant is virtually complete, although many refinements are still to be made. These include grading and landscaping of the grounds, erection of an ornamental fence and painting of the big tanks after it has been found that they develop no leaks.

Location of the MacMillan plant here makes Richmond still more an outstanding center of the oil industry, according to the chamber of commerce.

MURCIA, Spain, Sept. 3.—UP—A stiff earthquake rocked Murcia, in southern Spain, at 10:05 a. m. today.

The shocks lasted eight seconds. Many windows were broken. Several women fainted from fright, but little damage was reported. The tremors seemed to have an east-to-west direction.

POLICE BEGIN SEARCH FOR THUGS

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3.—UP—Search for a young girl and two men started by police here today after they had heard the story of George Marcelli, 70 year old recluse, who claimed he had been tortured by the trio during their attempts to learn where his money was hidden.

Marcelli was in an emergency hospital suffering from a fractured skull and other injuries.

He said the trio had come to his shack in an isolated part of the city and demanded that he tell them how to get into the secret store where he had hidden his money. He described the girl as about 18 years old, slim and good looking. He could not give identification of the men except that they were young.

Marcelli said he told the intruders that he had no money and that they started to beat him. Police visited the shack and found that rucks had been torn up, floor boards removed and furniture broken. The recluse had been unconscious when he was found by friends.

ROTARY TO HEAR ADDRESS

Two speakers will discuss the operation of the Student Travel Bureau before the Richmond Rotary club tomorrow noon.

V. C. Pinckney of the South African Dispatch line will be the principal speaker and will be presented by Fred D. Parr of the Richmond chamber, who will tell how the idea was adopted in the Richmond high school after a suggestion by the chamber.

Pinckney is the first shipping man to agree to provide tours to foreign countries during the summer months to certain students selected by the faculty as having shown remarkable aptitude in the foreign trade studies now under way at the high school. Pinckney, it is understood, will reiterate his former agreement to care for a group of the students on one of his ships during the next summer vacation.

Parr recently announced that the Student Travel Bureau is to be adopted by the Armstrong school of Berkeley and will be operated along lines similar to those in Richmond.

ALL FRANCE PREPARES GREETING

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—UP—With a non-stop flight from Paris behind them and a dash to Dallas ahead of them on the morrow, the two men of the Question Mark received today the tumultuous praise that was their due.

Capt. Dieudonne Coste and his navigator, Maurice Bellonte, found a city and indeed a nation thrilling to the skillful achievement that as Mayor Walker aptly put it, "turned the Atlantic ocean from a one-way thoroughfare into a two-way street."

New York said it with cheers with the clamor of sirens, with the brassy cadences of bands, with the rustle of silken banners in which the tricolor and Stars and Stripes intermingled and with its own noiseless bombardment of ticker tape streaming endlessly from Broadway's towers.

The airman met the unrestrained enthusiasm with a quality of diffidence that served but to endear them further to the throngs of admirers. As closely as possible the reception resembled that which marked the return of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh after he had pioneered the trans-oceanic route to La Bourget which Coste and Bellonte now have flown in the reverse direction.

Dallas will have its turn tomorrow evening when the aviators are due to reach there to receive a prize of $25,000 for the first one-stop flight between Paris and Texas city. Washington will have its turn Monday when government officials will echo the sentiments that three years ago were sounded by the French to Lindbergh.

But today it was New York's turn—and a thunderous much was made of it.

Miss Kovic told authorities that Gibson had only acted as a friend in taking her on a trip to Sacramento, that she had told her parents she was going with him and had written them a postal card on arrival here telling them she was well.

Gibson was held by local authorities until they could communicate with Fresno officers. He said he was an employee of the state highway equipment department and was going to Sacramento on business.

It was understood here that friends of Miss Kovic became excited when she failed to arrive in Sacramento when they had expected.

WIND STORM MAY REACH FLORIDA

By United Press

A hurricane of destructive force advanced slowly through the Greater Antilles Islands in the Caribbean sea Wednesday night, and it was feared serious damage, and perhaps loss of life, would result.

The storm center was on the island of Haiti. It had hit Santo Domingo on the eastern half of the island, during the afternoon, with a velocity said to be between 160 and 200 miles an hour—a terrific force.

Hurricane experts said that no hurricane had been recorded whose velocity was more than 160 miles an hour, and it was possible that the estimates of its intensity were exaggerated.

Communication with Santo Domingo was disrupted in mid-afternoon.

The hurricane's probable course was uncertain. It was variously reported as going west-northwestward, northward and northward. It struck the British island of Dominica, in the leeward group, 500 miles east-southeast of Santo Domingo, apparently Tuesday. The colonial office at London said two persons were killed, and that it was feared all crops were destroyed.

The storm, first of the autumn hurricane season, was believed moving at 102 miles an hour along its course. It was not possible to forecast its path with accuracy. Various possibilities were pointed out, moving west-northwestward or northward, it might strike Cuba, close by, and eventually—if it persisted in its course—the American coast, 600 miles away at the tip of Florida, the nearest point. Weather forecasters could say only that it did reach the United States, it (Continued on Page 8)

ESCAPED MAN TO BE RETURNED

MARTINEZ, Sept. 3.—Luciano Cienfuegos, 35, who was apprehended in San Pablo Sunday night after he had escaped from the Colorado State penitentiary for seven years, indicated today that he would not fight extradition but would return with the official who is coming here for him.

Cienfuegos was sentenced to serve from 10 to 14 years when he was convicted of second degree murder in Colorado, but escaped from the Canon City penitentiary after serving 14 months of his sentence.

According to word received by Sheriff R. R. Yale today, an officer from Colorado will be here in a few days to return Cienfuegos.

Drowned Ship Captain Found

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 3.—UP—The body of a man, believed to be that of Sedolph Rudd, captain of the fishing boat Orient, sunk in a collision with a freighter in Georgia straits Monday, was found in the water near Vancouver, B. C. today according to information received here.

Vancouver authorities reported the incident to Seattle police who said the man was found by a Vancouver police boat, but that identification had not been completely established.

Captain Rudd and nine members of his crew were feared to have been drowned when their boat was run down by the freighter Admiral Nulton. Three members of the crew were rescued, but no trace was seen of the others.

LOCAL RAGERS IN CLEAR LAKE REGATTA

Local outboard drivers played a prominent part in the outboard motor regatta held at Clear Lake over the past holidays.

Dr. Francis Kent and C. E. Marshall, both of Richmond, again competed successfully in the run-about event held at Clear Lake Sunday. Kent's famous "Lur Alyce" captured second place in that race. Marshall rode with Kent. Marshall's motor was used in the "Lur Alyce" during the event, and the combination worked very successfully. The local sportsmen competed in a field of 19 entries from all parts of northern California. Kent and Marshall were presented with an elaborate desk set.

Marshall and Kent intended using the same combination the following day, but on Monday morning Marshall's motor hit a stick and broke a bearing. Kent therefore had to use both his own motor and boat in Monday's runabout event. He won third place in Monday's race.

Rex Myers of Richmond also made fine showings in both the Monday and Sunday races. Richmond people attending the regatta at Clear Lake were: Mr. and Mrs. Olson, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Marshall and son, Jean, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Kent, and Rex Myers.

The Richmond Boating association are planning to hold more races on the local lake during the end of this month or the beginning of October. Plans will be laid for the coming races at a meeting of the club to be held at the clubhouse on Sept. 16.

The Clear Lake regatta was an elimination contest preliminary to the California outboard finals.

Members of the local club state that they are certain that outboard motor boating is here to stay. They point to the many outboard regattas being held on every navigable stretch of water in California and all other portions of the country. Records are tumbling as soon as they are being made.

Probably the most interesting outboard event held recently in this country was the trip made by C. H. Miekler of New Orleans on the Mississippi river last month from New Orleans to St. Louis. Miekler made the distance in 78 hours and 15 minutes, thereby breaking all records for the navigation of the 1,100 mile stretch. The record set by the Robert E. Lee, sixty years ago stood until last year, when Dr. Louis Lenox of Memphis, Tenn., in an outboard motorboat, cut three hours off the existing time. The record set by the Robert E. Lee was 90 hours and 11 minutes.

Mission Reds Beaten By Stars

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3.—UP.—Home run honors were divided by Hill of Hollywood and Hoffman of the San Francisco Missions here today when the league leaders defeated the Missions, 16 to 11. Each hit two home runs and on each occasion two men were on base at the time. Hill also pounded out a triple.

The Washington Senators lost ground in their fight for the American league pennant Wednesday when they were defeated 10 to 7 by the New York Yankees, while the leading Philadelphia Athletics won 11 to 4 from the Boston Red Sox. The Senators are now six games out of first place.

The Yankees' victory marked their fourth win out of 19 starts against the Senators and their first victory over "Sad Sam" Jones. Jones allowed the New Yorkers 12 hits before Burke replaced him at the start of the sixth.

Bob Grove hung up his 23rd victory of the season as the Athletics triumphed. The lucky southpaw was driven from the mound in the sixth inning when the Sox got their four runs, but was credited with the victory.

National League: The New York Giants made another opportunity to knock go unheeded today while the Boston Braves rallied in the second game to gain an even break in the inaugural double header of a six game series. A double victory would have placed the Giants within two and a half games of the league leading Chicago Cubs who lost to Pittsburgh.

An error by Lance Richbourg in the seventh inning of the first contest led the Giants to a 5 to 0 victory. Apparent victory slipped from streak.

BEAR GRIDDERS AWAIT FIRST GAME

BERKELEY, Sept. 3.—Football prospects at the University of California have reached a state of comparative stability now that the season opening is just two weeks over the horizon. As far as Coach C. M. "Nibs" Price and his corps of assistants are concerned, everything is in readiness for the first whistle September 15.

Price was fortunate in being able during spring practice to effect virtually all of the changes he contemplated. His chief worry is still ahead, and that is how best to whip an inexperienced crew of players into a well-coordinated team able to maintain the pace set by the schedule makers.

Price will undoubtedly draw heavily on his lettermen during the first three games—Santa Clara, Washington State and St. Mary's—but after that anything may happen, for he has on call a number of players for all positions, many of whom are just a step behind the lettermen in experience.

The veteran ends, Russ Avry and Ellis "Toso" Thornton will undoubtedly bear the brunt of the first three games, but they may later make place for two other lettermen, Bob Bartlett and "Chuck" Whyte, who gained their first experience last season.

The California mentor's tackle problem is less perplexing than usual. Nick Brown, Fritz Gahn and Dolph Timmerman will compete for places on the early lineups, allowing time for the development of a fourth tackle to take a regular place on one of the two "varsity" teams. Mal Coombs looks like the best prospect at present.

Captain Carl Handy and Ted Beckett seem certain to be called on for the heavy work at guard during these three critical games. Half a dozen other guards are in reserve, and from their ranks Price will complete the guard foursome necessary for his double eleven.

Herman Eickmeyer and Frank Medaniel will probably divide the responsibilities of center, with Eickmeyer having a slight edge in the competition due to his greater experience.

Ed Griffiths, heavyweight quarterback, will pilot the team and "Rusty" Gill will fill his expected place at fullback. The other three backfield men who won letters last season are Joe Hickingbotham and Clarence "Moose" Garrity, halfbacks and Ed Kirwan, quarter. Hickingbotham and Garrity will probably not be used together making room for a non-letterman or two. Outstanding among these halfback prospects are George Watkins, number par excellence; Ray East, ten-foot sprinter and Ralph Seely, who showed considerable last season. Kirwan will relieve Griffiths when needed.

Legion Gridmen To Practice Here

Frank Ribbel, assistant coach of the Richmond Union High school, will assume his duties as coach of the Richmond Post, American Legion football team at a practice on the high school field tonight, according to an announcement.

According to the announcement, the grasp of Bill Walker in the eighth inning of the second game when the Braves pushed eight runs across to score in 11 to 7 victory. The Giants were well ahead when Berger singled to start a seven hit Ribbel has offered to give the boys a hand in their training this year, and will hold his first practice tonight.

Members of the team have been holding light workouts for almost a month, but with the announcement that Ribbel will take charge of the squad, the team will get down to hard practice next week.

Bear Crews To Start Practice For Spring Soon

BERKELEY, Sept. 3.—While football is the only major sport of the fall season at the University of California, three major sports of the spring season have taken a leaf from the football coaches' book and are getting under way early.

Freshmen oarsmen have already started rowing under Coach Russ Nagler. Varsity rowers are soon to report to Coach Ki Ebricht for fall training.

The new varsity tennis team, after a victorious season on the Pacific coast and an undefeated summer tour of the east featured by the winning of the national intercollegiate doubles title by Do I Muehleisen and Bob Muench, opened fall practice yesterday.

Varsity track men signed up for fall training yesterday afternoon, and Coach Walter Christie plans to start workouts immediately.

Distance runners are to begin practice on a cross-country course in west Berkeley in the hope that plans will be approved for a meeting in November with teams representing Southern California and U. C. L. A.

In addition to these major sports activities, freshman and varsity soccer teams are preparing for the fall schedule under Coach Reg Dowling and Coach Stanley Jones is getting a line on material for his 1931 varsity boxing team.

Parents have agreed with the city administration that curfew, represented by the old state mill whistle, shall sound each evening at 8:45 o'clock, calling youthful wanderers home.

104 TURN OUT FOR BEAR FOOTBALL

BERKELEY, Sept. 3.—Football practice at the University of California will draw a record turnout September 15 when grid candidates get down to serious business at Southwest field.

One hundred and four candidates have signed up for the varsity squad and that, barring the days of the wonder teams, is by way of being a record at the Berkeley institution. Last year a turnout of over 90 men was rated as nothing short of phenomenal.

Best of all, from the viewpoint of Coach C. M. "Nibs" Price, is the fact that with one or two exceptions every man who was expected to return has signed his name on the roster. In addition nearly two-score new prospects have rallied to the Golden Bear banner.

Line material is particularly abundant. The Bear coach will be able to choose from 9 ends, 14 tackles and 23 guards. Ten centers will be available.

In the backfield eight quarterbacks have signed up; 25 halfbacks will be in competition for places, and five fullbacks are in readiness for the opening of practice.

Following are the varsity candidates, listed by their positions, and including the cities from which they are registered at the university:

MRS. CUDAHY IN DIVORCE ACTION

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 3.—UP—Michael Cudahy, heir to the meat packing fortune of his grandfather today was named in a divorce suit in which his young film actress wife, Muriel Evans Cudahy, charged him with cruelty.

The action came shortly after a year of married life for the young couple.

After a sensational elopement to Riverside with Miss Evans, young Cudahy announced to the world that he was "through being a playboy" and had settled down.

His domestic life, however, was interrupted by several incidents which brought his name to the newspaper headlines.

The blonde young wife accused Cudahy of treating her with contempt and humiliating her by refusing to talk with her when friends and relatives were present.

They were married on July 6, 1929 and separated on August 20, 1930.

Antonia Brico Will Conduct Concert Friday

BERKELEY, Sept. 3.—Search of the records of the committee on music and drama at the University of California reveals that the concert of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra which will be conducted by Antonia Brico on September 5, in the Greek theater, is the first symphony concert in that amphitheatre since October 7, 1923, when Alfred Hertz led a benefit concert for the victims of the Berkeley fire.

Antonia Brico is a graduate of the university with the class of 1923, and is the first woman ever to conduct the San Francisco Symphony, just as she was the first woman to lead the Berlin Philharmonic orchestra, and the first woman to be graduated from the School of Conducting, in the Berlin Academy of Music.

Students at the university, particularly women students affiliated with Treble Clef and Alpha Mu, music honor societies, are preparing to cooperate in arrangements for the concert in appreciation of the fact that Miss Brico is the most famous woman musician that the University of California has produced. During her undergraduate days, while she was laying the foundations for her musical career and studying for her bachelor degree, Miss Brico not only took a prominent part in campus musicales, but managed to earn her own living.

As soloist for the September concert, Miss Brico has invited Gerda Henius, dramatic soprano, to come all the way from Europe. Gerda Henius has sung in all the leading theaters of Europe, principally, however, with the La Scala Opera, Milan, Italy.

The program of the concert will include: Rimski-Korsakov's "Scheherazade," Weber's "Freischütz," the prelude to "Die Meistersinger," and the closing scene from "Goetterdaemmerung." Gerda Henius is looked upon as the ideal type for the solo part in "Goetterdaemmerung."

Production Cost Of Sugar Beets Studied By U. C.

DAVIS, Sept. 3.—With sugar prices low and the competition from other crops keen, sugar beet producers must reduce production costs if this industry is to remain in the field of agriculture. This is the belief of E. M. Murvine, senior agricultural engineer of the division of agricultural engineering, United States department of agriculture, who is here to study machinery and methods used in beet production in this state.

In company with Dr. W. W. Robbins of the botany division of the University of California at the branch of the College of Agriculture here, Murvine has been inspecting the beet fields during harvest. They discussed the situation with sugar company officials, with farm advisors in the counties where sugar beets are grown, and with the leading growers of the state.

Two Plans Considered

Two plans of reducing production by use of machinery are being considered, with a hope that both may be worked out. One would be to reduce the cost of blocking by the use of some machine. Thinning probably would have to be done by hand, but the cost of blocking before thinning, it is believed, may be materially cut down.

The second is to reduce harvesting costs. At present the lifting of beets from the soil is done by one machine, topped by another and loading by a third. It is believed that one machine might be devised to accomplish all these operations at once.

Nation-Wide Survey Made

While Murvine is at present working here, he is engaged in a nation-wide survey of the sugar beet problem. He is working with Dr. Robbins, and with Prof. H. B. Walker and other members of the agricultural engineering division here. He expects to establish headquarters somewhere in the west, from which he may continue his investigations. In cooperation with agricultural engineering divisions of land grant colleges, he will endeavor to work out the new machines his studies indicate are needed.

"There is much fine land in California that is well adapted to production of sugar beets," says Dr. Robbins. "If production costs can be reduced to a point where the raising of beets can be made profitable, it is hoped that as a result of the studies now under way the acreage may be materially increased in the next few years."

BRIBE ORDER BY FEDERAL TOLD

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 3.—UP—Richard Fryant, former dry agent, took the stand today as the first defense witness in the Lyle-Whitney conspiracy trial and testified that Thomas P. Revelle, former United States attorney, had ordered him to accept bribes from rum runners.

The former prohibition agent was the first of four defendants who were to testify as the defense began its fight to disprove government charges of bribery and conspiracy. He was to be followed by Roy C. Lyle, former dry administrator for the northwest, and William Whitney and Earl Corwin, former prohibition officials.

Fryant took the stand after federal Judge Frank Norcross denied a motion for a directed verdict or not guilty. The court also denied a motion to strike out the testimony of three government witnesses.

Fryant said his first connection with the alleged conspiracy was made through Hubbard Hubbard, employed as a prohibition agent in 1927, told Whitney that he had a chance to build a case against Ben Newman, now deceased, and that Newman wanted protection. The matter was taken to Revelle by Hubbard, Whitney and Fryant, and Revelle told them to "go ahead, take his money and bring it to me, to be used against him."

Fryant said he didn't like the idea at the time, "as it might get us into trouble."

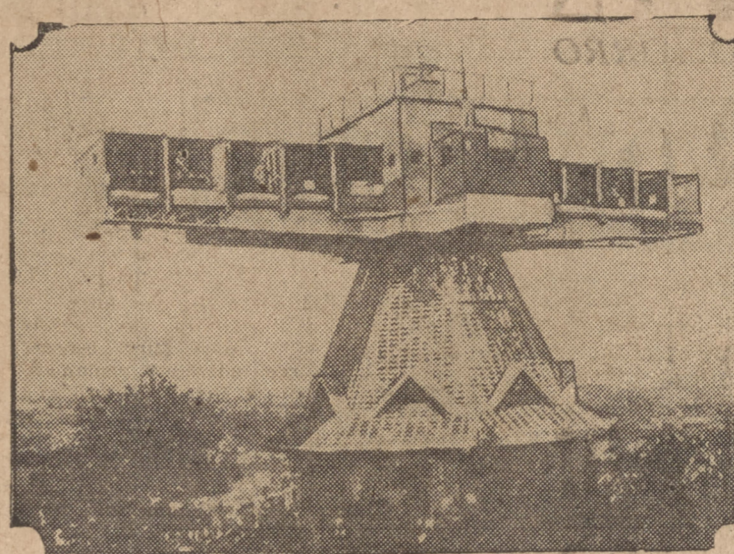

Revelle told us, "You boys never suggest anything, but it's all right to ride the boats, go to the landings and work with them; that's within the government rights. If you get any money, bring it to me and make a written report of it."

The former boxer, who is serving a long term following his conviction on charges of manslaughter and robbery, in Los Angeles, has held the most prominent position in the prison for several years, his first truck being stationed near the main gate where he has been seen by nearly every visitor.

Recently McCoy wrote to the Pacific Coast fire chief's convention in Oakland that he regretted "duty" prevented him from being present.

AIR FERRIES WILL LOCATE IN CITY

First steps in the establishment of a San Francisco-Richmond air ferry were taken yesterday when Ted Huggins, treasurer of the Air Ferries Ltd., surveyed the Richmond waterfront to determine suitable landing places.

Huggins was accompanied on his tour by Claude Gignoux of the Richmond development company, who said that a number of locations along the waterfront and in the Richmond inner harbor appeared favorable to Huggins.

Huggins will make a detailed report to the company at a meeting in the near future. He said yesterday that a Richmond-San Francisco air ferry was included in the original plans of the company.

According to Huggins the Air Ferries Ltd., yesterday passed the 50,000 mark in the number of passengers carried since Feb. 1.

The company is now operating lines from San Francisco to Oakland and Vallejo, both of which have been reported highly successful.

Although no definite date has been set for the starting of the Richmond line, it is believed it will be placed in operation as soon as a suitable landing place can be decided upon.

High Student Body Meets

Means of collecting funds for the treasury of the Richmond Union high school Students Association were discussed by Principal B. X. Tucker at a meeting of the Students Association held yesterday morning.

Tucker mentioned the presentation of several plays as a successful means of earning sufficient funds to carry on the work of the Student Body. He stated that these plays could raise money sufficient to build a fence around the high school football field. He pointed out that this fence would be a means of enlarging the gate receipts at local high school games.

Following Tucker's talk, the pupils adopted a motion empowering the commissioners to build the fence around the football field. The commissioners were also empowered to appoint athletic managers.

SONNET

If I were free of desolation's chill,
Were free forever of swift crimson fell,
Could live the hours of loneliness until
Time ceased to gnaw and torment, without tear;
If I could see frustration, bit by bit,
Destroy the fabric of my dearest dream,
See feeble laughter greet a feeble wit,
And be not moved to grief—the world would be
A goodly place, and life at least half worth
The pains of growing, the travail of birth,
The long sojourn upon the little earth.
But I am restless with each lash of fate,
Impatient equally of love and hate.
Life starts so early and peace comes too late.

JENNIFER GOODMAN.

Romance Brought Up the Nine-Fifteen

ANY of the girls are doing it—we mean marrying and, for a time, keeping their jobs outside the home—and yet the elderly sentimentalists are still objecting to the procedure on the ground that it destroys "romance." Such a marriage seems to them a coldly unappealing substitute for the little bride who stays at home to bake biscuits, while the young husband "protects" her by hustling for the rent.

What the critics of the fifty-fifty marriage of youth fail to realize is that there is no romance crushed by circumstance, but circumstance molded and shaped by romance "nearer to the heart's desire." If you grant—and, as a good American, how can you help it?—that young lovers should marry instead of parting, you must realize that, in an increasing number of cases, the bride's pay envelope added to the bridegroom's is what makes marriage possible. Modern business practice smooths the path of true love. "And all unseen," in the Kipling phrase, "romance brought up the nine-fifteen." Because two are willing to keep on earning, two can afford to marry for love. Otherwise, they can't.

Honestly, if you ask us, we'll wager that pure, unadulterated romantic love, rather than feminist ideas of economic independence, is responsible for many of these marriages in which the girl as well as the man continues to collect a pay envelope. He can't afford, just yet, to support her and a family—economic circumstances, over which he has no control, keep the beginner's white-collar salary low and the cost of living high.

Then, what are they to do? Marry and live on their parents? Self-respect forbids, and the arrangement is too hard on the parents. Wait for years, eating out their hearts? Human nature forbids. Marry into an older and more moneyed group? Romance forbids.

OBVIOUSLY, the way out is for the two to marry each other as they long to do, and for both to keep on working for a time, building and lining the nest till it is really comfortable for nestlings. Surely this plan combines both romance and common sense. The arguments in its favor have nowhere, we think, been presented more clearly and forcibly than in Floyd Dell's new book, Love in the Machine Age.

To love, for a lifetime, ardently, romantically; to make a permanent marriage not only for the welfare of the children but for the couple's own happiness—that is the arrangement which works best when it can be made to work, insists Mr. Dell, that is the ideal of today's young lovers. His quarrel—and theirs—with Judge Lindsey's "companionate marriage" is because it is predicated on parting instead of permanency, and "the whole tenor of our culture seems to require that marriage should psychologically represent the public ratification of a love-choice which is regarded by the parties themselves as final."

"To young lovers the idea of living happily ever after does not seem at all absurd or impracticable," continues the author of Love in the Machine Age. "They believe that, no matter how it may be with others, they will keep on loving forever." This being the wholly desirable end, why should anyone quarrel with the means—even if it is the fifty-fifty marriage? For here, explains Mr. Dell, is how and why that works for ask me that they tried the lobster recipes that I printed last week, which were contributed by one of our readers who is spending the summer on the coast of Maine. Others have written for information about more ways to prepare lobster.

"It is best to use the liver of the lobster in the filling with bread crumbs, onion and seasonings," the recipe says. "We do not use cream here. You add the filling before you place the lobster over the charcoal or wait until the lobster is partly done."

Here is my answer. Do you agree with this? I would not use onion in lobster

Last Play Days For Collegians

ONE OF THE OVED GRAYED LAPIN COATS MADE FOR THE YOUNGER SET.

By Ann Roberts

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

I'M NOT assuming that you have outgrown all of your summer clothes—rather that they have outgrown you. I know that urge which comes over all females as the season dies, to hurry to the next one by buying new clothes. This disease reaches probably its most virulent form in the young. They haven't grown the hard shell of resistance which enables them to hang on to passing fashions, knowing that "no summer ever comes again."

With a view to translating clothes desire into a virtue, I promote the theory—I swear it's a sound one, too—that if the high school or college girl purchases clothes right now she is making a good investment. Her wardrobe is bound to need replenishing at Christmas time no matter which way you look at it, and clothes bought now can be worn on vacations in cool places, added to which they have a good four months of wear before the holiday season brings new wraps and fresh desires.

The new styles are all right here with us and can be hunted out. In fact they are being pretty much displayed as precious novelties.

I will attempt to give a good type dress for each occasion of an ideal day, each perfect in its way.

The New Jerseys

HOW about a Jersey dress?—this is to be a high fashion, and college girls eat them up usually whether they are elevated as fashion or not. You can buy a Jersey dress anywhere from sixteen dollars and seventy-five cents to seventy-five dollars. The cheaper ones, bless them, cling and stretch, but as they grow better in quality they keep their shape and style through far more wear and tear. The wide waist and rough Jerseys you will find are best in quality.

The one illustrated with Angora bands for trimming is a newer design. There is another with inset bands of contrasting color around the neck and sleeves that is highly to be recommended.

Pique and linen collars and cuffs are still good—one of the things that have come around again into smartness.

Be careful to shun diligently all plummy belts and buckles, even buttons unwisely sprinkled about. Remember that simplicity must be the watchword for this type of dress, and feta blouse and scarf—it's smart as it can be.

For Youthful Parties

TAFFETA is extremely good for the young—their flat hips can stand its stiffness. You can have it either flowered or plain. At Spring Lake all the young girls are dashing out in taffeta for parties. You see lots and lots of it.

For something more sheer Elizabeth crepe is lovely when made with little short puffed sleeves and high waistline. If the girl must be her mother's daughter and wear satin then white is the best—or black if she will be the most sophisticated thing on the floor. There is nothing smarter than pastel satin and that is always youthful looking.

Now for an evening wrap. I hear a chorus everywhere in favor of the little short fur once-shaved lapin or certainly for the maintenance of youthfulness.

The Tweedy Thing

MONOTONE tweeds make wonderful dresses of what is known as the "girlish" type. They are loosely woven clothes looking more like burlap and are even smarter than the two tone rough textures. You can find them in bright rust color, Algerian red, Algerian green, and blue. And the browns, of course, lead for fall wear.

Both of these types of dress will be good to wear under top coats or fur coats later on—just the sort you would probably step out and buy in the middle of winter, so you might as well have them now.

Then top coats of the same material can be indulged in if the top coat is a "must" for the coming season.

one of the more youthful designs for evening—a dress in flowered taffeta.

Knit Squares for Decoration

DO you ever crochet little squares and stripes of wool and then fashion them into cushion covers and chair-seats and porch bags and hairpin cases and tie-backs for portieres? They are such fun to do and they are so good-looking when they are done.

You crochet or knit them as you please, either stripes or squares, except for the tie-backs which you make in single strips of solid color or crazy fashion—that is, one color and another worked up hit or miss, done as you know, by tying one strand of wool to another.

The tie-backs are made that way—three or four strands of these twisted into a single bulky cord and then a great fat tassel held by a couple of inches of the cord to a fluffy ball of wool. The tassel is fashioned by knitting a series of loops, many of them, and then cutting them so that the ends flare out and around the center. Or, the tassel may be attached to a button. Cover one of those huge button-molds that a furrier uses for his coats, knitting the cover of the colors used in tassel and cord.

For the cushions and chair seats you can knit four inch squares in two different colors, or you can make four large squares, quartering your cushion measurements, or you may knit stripes separately. In any case, you'll have a cushion you'll be proud of, and if you like, there's nothing to prevent and everything to recommend making a different pattern for each of a set of chairs. This is an excellent suggestion for covering those mid-Victorian hair cloth chairs. If you happen to have any, or if you haven't that you can buy now for a song.

Sympathy May Help the Cook

BIOGRAPHERS tell us that self-control was a prominent attribute of Socrates. For instance, we are told "He enjoyed good food but could endure the poor cooking of his wife." How many husbands of today possess such self control?

We all know Socrates was a wise man. He probably realized it was really his own fault that he had to put up with poorly cooked food. The man selects the wife—if he chooses a poor cook, why not endure her poor cooking?

Finding and storming does not improve the cooking a particle. Perhaps if you were a bit sympathetic with her failures she might try to improve. She will, if she cares for you. Your attitude will have a strong bearing upon her success.

Why not tactfully suggest a course in cooking and be sure to express your willingness to gladly pay for it. Many fairly good cooks take cooking courses to become more proficient, so she, probably, will accept of your offer. If she does not, well, maybe she does not care and there may be a reason. Think it over.

THINK IT OVER

By Alfalfa Smith

THE woman who thinks work has taken a holiday is a fool.

I am reminded of this by meeting a woman whom I knew when she was young. Her ambition had always been to have a BIG house with all that goes with it.

Finally she got it, and with it a lot of trouble. She had to WORK. Managing the servants was a big job and she didn't relish it. She was in perpetual fear that her big house would be robbed.

She got her big house, BUT she lost her peace of mind. What do YOU want?

ALL THE BAD NEWS FIRST

BUSINESS bulletins from everywhere:

CHICAGO—Business conditions hereabouts are so tough that a prominent Chicago gunman only had a $12,000 cash to be buried in. There was hardly a ton of orchids at the funeral either.

PITTSBURGH—Felix J. Thump, an automobile salesman, dropped dead today when a customer offered to pay cash on a six-cylinder car.

STONY BROOK, Mass.—This village has petitioned the state Legislature to change its name to Stony Broke.

NEW YORK—Business is so bad in Broadway night clubs that Rollo Gingle, a former man about town, secured a ringside table last night by slipping the head waiter one yellow and two green cigar coupons. The night club orchestra played his favorite tune for a couple of street car transfers.

WASHINGTON—The Supreme Court of the United States has decided to follow Chief Justice Hughes's example and save barber shop money hereafter. To make expenses, the court may join the House of David band till the October session opens.

MANGLE JUNCTION, N. J.—There has been so much traffic recently over the hills to the poorhouse that the road has been leveled off. The county commissioners are thinking of putting a four-lane boulevard in to take care of the congested traffic.

BAFF BEACH, Me.—The Marney House, famous hotel resort, was forced to close its doors today because the quahog used for flavoring the clam chowder was lost. It is planned to reopen the hotel on Labor Day if an oyster can be secured for oyster stew.

SEVERLY HILLS, Calif.—Myrtle Mink, noted cinema actress, has inaugurated a program of retrenchment at her estate here. She has closed her marble swimming pool and retired to the seclusion of her onyx and aluminum bathroom for bathing purposes until the depression blows over.

WAPPING, Kans.—The business outlook here is so unfavorable the fire department has been ordered to cut down four-alarm fires to three alarms till conditions improve.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y.—There is a rumor that John D. Rockefeller, in a fit of economy, has sold his private links to be cut up into house lots and has taken up midget golf.

PHILADELPHIA—Things are so tough in this section that a closing-out auction sale of jewelry, establishments flushed thirty-one years ago, actually closed out.

DETROIT—Due to a slashing economy program, the doorman at a downtown movie palace has been reduced to the rank of rear admiral, and movie stars are bending 45 degrees lower to cash customers.

WILLIAMS, Ariz.—The Grand Canyon retained a new low ebb for all time this summer. Experts attribute it to the fact that no one is throwing away his old safety razor blades.

NEW YORK—As an example of how widespread the depression is, 21 per cent of Rudy Vallee's fan mail is coming in with postage due.

ST. LOUIS—Upward of forty aviators have been circling over local airfields in airplanes for more than thirty days now. Things are so tough the bird men discovered it was cheaper to go in for airplane endurance contests than pay rent.

GULLY, Neb.—Due to business conditions, a number of Middle Western colleges have decided to get along with amateur football players this fall.

THIS AND T.—When those Western states wanted rain, the administration gave them rain checks.

Things could be worse. Imagine Floyd Gibbons using a megaphone for his talks on the radio.

One reason ball clubs blow up when they play the Cubs in Chicago is that they know they have Cicero, Ill., to the right of them; Herrin, Ill., to the left of them, and Lake Michigan right in front of them.

Bossy Gills, the mayor of Newburyport, Mass., is running for United States senator. And the more we think of the other ninety-five, we don't know but what we'd do.

Speaking of tree-climbing contests, how about giving Sir Thomas Lipton credit for being left out of a limb for thirty-two years?

We would be in favor of that international banking system if it only had beer on draft.

Now the safety razor people are getting out safety razor razors—eighteen holes with each hole might strike anywhere along the Florida peninsula or the gulf coast generally.

WEST INDIES SWEEP BY STORMS

If the storm moves northward, it would go toward the Bahamas and the open Atlantic.

SHIPPING LANES FEARED ENDANGERED

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—UP—A hurricane was reported roaring through the West Indies today, headed north-northwest. Shipping lanes were feared endangered.

All communications with Santo Domingo were down, the San Juan office of the All-American Cables company reported to New York this evening. The hurricane's velocity was reported to be 160 miles an hour, a wall of wind which swept everything movable in its path.

Advices from Fisherman's Point, Cuba, an all American cable station, said the storm center was about 100 miles off Santo Domingo during the morning. The message said some or possibly all the force of the hurricane was expected to reach Cuba tomorrow.

The storm center was moving slowly, reports said, shifting over the tossing seas at about 112 miles an hour. The general direction was reported from various places as north-northwest.

Santo Domingo is about 600 miles south-southeast of the southern tip of Florida.

The San Juan weather bureau at 3 p. m. issued this report: "The Pan American wireless company reported a hurricane off Santo Domingo. Wind 100 miles an hour, traveling north. Barometer reading, 29.07. Indicated traveling over eastern end of the island. Will probably run into Atlantic shipping lane."

ISLAND OF HAITI STRUCK BY STORM

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Sept. 2.—Via Tropical Radio to United Press)—UP—An intense hurricane causing wide-spread damage, struck the Island of Haiti late today, according to advices received here.

The wind, blowing over Santo Domingo, capital of the Dominican Republic, was reported as having reached a velocity of 160 miles an hour at 3:15 p. m. (EST.)

All means of overland communication with the storm-swept country were put out of commission.

Details of damage and casualties wrought by the hurricane were lacking in early reports.

The storm was reported heading northward.

MUCH DAMAGE FEARED IN STORM

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Sept. 3.—UP—Last reports received here from Santo Domingo, before communication was broken at 3 p. m. today, said that the storm was moving northward over the eastern portion of the island.

Lines to the interior were down. Many buildings in the capital were unroofed, the dispatches said, and the velocity of the wind was from 150 to 160 miles an hour.

The steamship Coamo, which left San Juan for Santo Domingo at 3 p. m. Tuesday, was unable to land its passengers, and is returning here.

Planes of the Pan American airways line remained in port here and in Haiti.

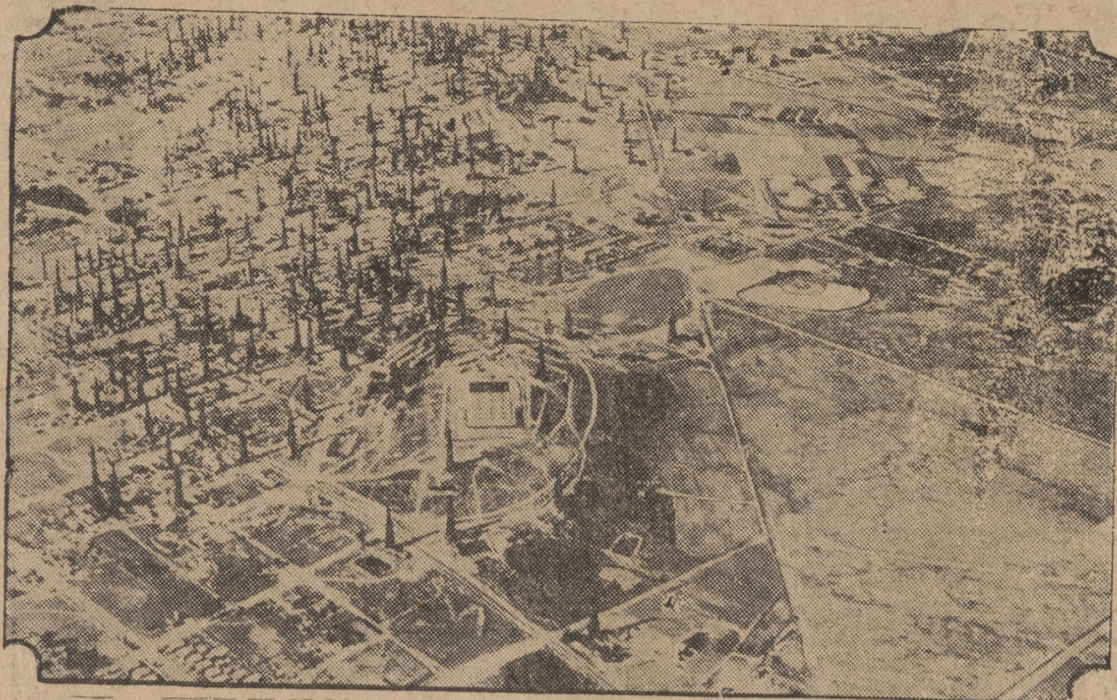

Porto Rico was nervous yesterday regarding the storm, but it is believed tonight that it has passed 100 miles southward.

BERKELEY, Sept. 3.—Among recent visitors to the University of California campus was Dr. Oscar Seifried, professor on the veterinary faculty of the University of Glessen, Germany.

Professor Seifried is in America for a two-year period of research under the sponsorship of the Rockefeller Institute, on the virus diseases of the central nervous system, and pathology and histology in animals.

His visit to the University of California was made as part of a tour of the United States in which he is engaged. He was accompanied by his wife, and while on the Berkeley campus he was entertained by Professors C. M. Haring and J. A. Traub.

After leaving Berkeley, Professor Seifried went to Los Angeles where he was scheduled to deliver two papers before the American Veterinary Medical association, on "A" Avitaminosis in poultry, and the histology of lesions of the central nervous system in hog cholera.

SHRINERS TO MEET AT UKIAH

UKIAH, Sept. 3.—Preparations are being made for the entertainment on Saturday, Sept. 20, of Shriners from all sections of northern California. On that date, according to C. N. Mortenson, chairman of the Mendocino and Lake counties Shrine club, will entertain illustrious Potentate Elliott Johnson, of Aahmes Temple and members of his Divan. In addition, there will be guests from all over the northern part of the state. Some of the outstanding business and professional men of the west have been invited to be present.

According to the plans announced by C. N. Mortenson, entertainment for the Shriners will include a stag dinner here in Ukiah on Saturday evening, Sept. 20. At this dinner, Potentate Johnson is to be the guest of honor. There will be feature entertainment supplied by the Out-Of-Town committees of Aahmes Temple under the direction of Chairman Herman Englehart.

C. N. Mortenson is serving as chairman of the general committee. He is being assisted by Herbert V. Keeling, who has been named co-chairman to represent the Lake county Shriners in their contribution to the success of the convalescence.

According to Noble Mortenson, Herman L. Englehart will be accompanied to Ukiah by the entire Out-Of-Town committee of Aahmes temple. All of these Shriners are to take an active part in the program. Potentate Johnson is to be accompanied by Chief Rabban, Romaine Meyers; Assistant Rabban, Roy Milliken; Oriental Guide, John L. Gresham; First Ceremonial Master, Ray Polk; Recorder, Robert S. Abernethy; Marshall, Ralph Yaeger; and Past Potentate and Ceremonial Director, Franklin R. Haley.

"This is to be the big event of Shrineland for the year," said Noble Mortenson. "It will be the first official visit of Potentate Johnson and his Divan and the first visit of Chairman Englehart and his Out-Of-Town committee to this section of California for more than a year. It is the desire of every Noble of the Mystic Shrine in Mendocino and Lake counties to make this the greatest Shrine celebration these counties have ever known."

AVIATORS TO HOP WEST TODAY

lonte on the return of the French fliers whose trans-Atlantic flight linking Paris and New York swelled France with pride today.

Coste will be made a commander of the Legion of Honor, and both he and Bellonte will be suitably and practically rewarded. Air Minister Eynac announced the government would in all probability award them 1,000,000 francs—about $40,000.

Both men will be promoted in the French Legion of Honor, of which they are members, and in the French army reserve, the minister announced. Coste, now an officer of the Legion of Honor, will be made a commander in that order; while Bellonte, knighted a year ago, will be raised to the rank of an officer of the Legion. Ordinarily, knights must wait eight years before they can be made officers.

Promotions Seen
Coste will be promoted from a captain in the army reserve to a major, it was indicated; and Bellonte, a non-commissioned officer, will be made a second-lieutenant.

Paris, still vibrant with emotion and joyous at the achievement of the two daring fliers, was a city of flags tonight. A vote of the council ordered all avenues decorated with the tri-color, and the fluttering colors added to the spontaneous enthusiasm of the people.

On the boulevards, in the cafes, hotels, everywhere, the names of Coste and Bellonte were on every lip through the night and all today. News of their reception at Curtiss airport, on Long Island, and their welcome by Mayor James J. Walker at City Hall in New York was eagerly read.

Air Minister Laurent Eynac in an interview with the United Press announced that the government would reward Coste and Bellonte with decorations, promotions and a prize award of possibly 1,000,000 francs (about $40,000).

Eynac said the flight really was a sporting achievement, although it would doubtless result in the obtaining of precious technical information. He indicated, however, that the government would remain faithful to its traditional policy of using seaplanes exclusive in commercial trans-Atlantic flying.

Death Blamed On Slot War

BROOKLYN, Sept. 4 (Thursday) UP—What police described as another outbreak of the slot machine war occurred here early today resulting in the death of one man and the serious wounding of two others.

Sam Cohen, 24, Brooklyn, was fatally wounded as he sat in an ice cream parlor by a man who engaged him in a brief conversation and then pulled out a revolver and shot at him five times.

One of the shots wounded George Gelbin, 22, a customer in the store. The gunman backed out of the store and shot and wounded Louis Fisher, 20, who was passing by.

Cohen died shortly after being removed to St. Mary's hospital. The other men are expected to recover.

Magazine To Be Published At St. Mary's

ST. MARY'S COLLEGE, Sept. 3.—Though no date was fixed for its initial appearance, the "Moraga Quarterly," new scholarly publication which will make its appearance from Saint Mary's sometime this month, has reached the definite stages of format and content, according to James L. Hagerty, co-editor of the publication.

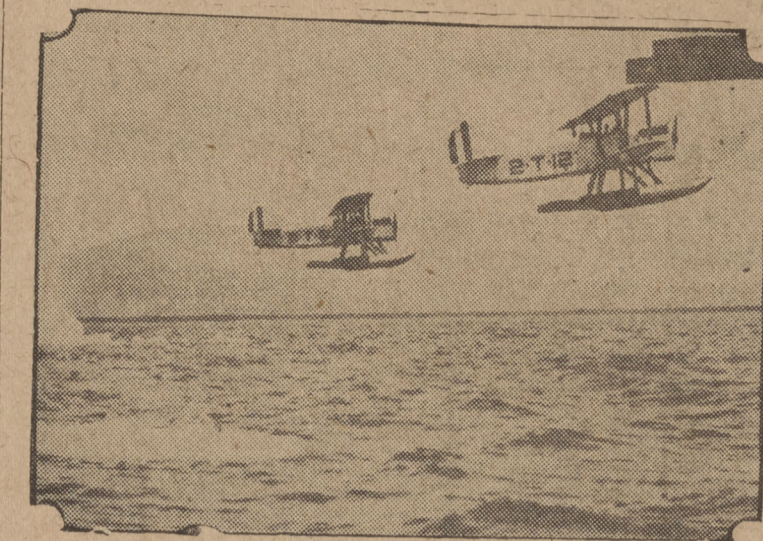

Hagerty and Brother Leo, chancellor of St. Mary's, who are preparing the manuscripts for the first edition have determined upon a sixty-four page magazine to be printed on book stock.

Scholarly papers read at the recent Augustinian Centenary by professors of local and national repute will form a large portion of the contents of the first edition, it is rumored. Book reviews, critical articles and authoritative monographs on art, science and cultural subjects constitute the special field of the new periodical which makes its first appearance soon.

EASY TO LOOK AT—good to look at—that's your reaction to charm and beauty. Easy to smoke—good to smoke—that's the lure of Camels. Good because of the natural mildness and fragrance of mellow tobaccos, with all the delicacy and aroma preserved by scientific skill in preparation and blending—good because there's no over-processing or doctoring—no flatness of taste.

Easy—because they are so mild and smooth that you can smoke them all the day through with never a suggestion of throat discomfort.

Notice that it's Camels now—your crowd and elsewhere—because Camels are so good to smoke.
